

Group Sanctions $267,733,728 Act For War Defense

Measure Carries Huge Sum for Training Defense Workers and Airport Item

Program Is Huge

Recommended Amount Would Be First Step in Airport Expansion

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—A supplementary supply bill carrying among other things a $93,000,000 item for training defense workers and $80,000,000 for construction of new military and civil airports was approved today by the House appropriations committee.

The bill's total of $267,733,728 covered a variety of items. Of this amount, $207,475,727 was in direct cash appropriations and $60,258,001 in contract authorizations for which Congress would have to provide funds later.

The total was $94,444 less than was requested by the budget bureau.

The committee estimated that the funds for defense training would provide for instruction of about 700,000 persons. This program called for $60,500,000 for the office of education which would have supervision of the work and $32,500,000 to permit the National Youth Administration to give additional work to unemployed youth who also would be afforded an opportunity for part-time instruction in defense work.

Huge Program Visioned

Assessing that it had been advised that the nation's existing airport system was "woefully inadequate" for the needs of military aviation, the committee said the $80,000,000 recommended would permit a start on a $500,000,000 airport development program.

Inadequacy of existing fields was shown, the committee said, by the fact that there were only 36 civil landing areas which could accommodate all types of military planes under all weather conditions. In the face of that, the committee added, the army and navy proposed to place tactical squadrons of training units on 90 civil airports in the near future.

A fund of $4,640,000 was recommended for construction by the coast guard of a new 300-foot cutter for duty in Greenland waters, and thirty 78-foot cutters for harbor patrol work.

Fair, Square Deal Is Promised

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—The "double shuffle" guarantees every registering American that if he is called up for the draft, it will be done fairly and squarely.

The double shuffle involves two sets of numbers—serial numbers and order numbers.

The local draft boards will handle the serial numbers. The boards will receive from national headquarters a supply of registration cards. The cards will be publicly numbered 1, 2, 3, etc., and then publicly shuffled. Supplies of these cards will be distributed to the various local registration places.

The first man to enroll on October 16 may get any number from 1 to 10,000—depending on the number of cards his district receives.

On registration night, each local board will wire the governor of the state its highest number, and the governor will relay the information to the selective service director in Washington.

The director will then prepare a master set of numbers, running up to the highest registration number reported. These will be placed in capsules and placed in a glass bowl for the drawing. As each serial number is drawn, it will become an order number.

For example, the first numbers drawn may be:

First—674.
Second—4382.
Third—46, etc.

Serial number 674 in each local district thus would become order number 1, and the man holding that serial number would be the first called.

But what about a small district? Say one with only 100 registrants? In that case the first number drawn under 101 would become order number 1 for that district. In the example cited, the third number drawn—46—would become order number 1 in a small district.

Arrives at Capital

Washington, Sept. 23 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the President, came to Washington today on his 30th birthday anniversary with plans for service as a captain in the army air corps' special reserve. Young Roosevelt, who flew here from New York, went to the White House before calling at the war department where his application for service has been pending since last week.

Death Is Victor

Husband Awaits Trial

London, Sept. 23 (AP)—Death refused to lose in the case of Irene Elizabeth Clark.

She was found severely injured in an air raid shelter and her husband was charged with attempted murder. Rushed to a hospital, she underwent an operation.

But death in the form of a bomb visited her while she was convalescing.

In the wife's case a verdict of death due to bombing was returned today. The husband's case awaits the verdict of a court.

Saratoga Will Get Defense Airport, If Plans Work Out

Area Would Comprise 110 Acres and Give Fighter, Bomber Planes Place for Landings

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—New York's defenses moved forward another notch today with announcement of plans for the first of a series of upstate military airports and a governor's request that cities and counties establish local defense boards.

The airport, still to be approved by the war department, may be located on 110 acres of ground in Saratoga county and would provide landing facilities for fighter and bomber planes. The project is designed to block the historic northern route of invasion through the Champlain and Hudson valleys.

At the same time, Governor Lehman asked mayors of cities and county boards of supervisors to establish the local defense groups and listed several channels through which such units could further national preparedness.

The governor said local boards could cooperate by insuring "adequate protection" of water supplies and other "vulnerable" spots, boosting the vocational training program and assisting in securing government defense contracts for local manufacturers.

Lester W. Herzog, upstate WPA administrator, said at least two other isolated landing fields are under consideration and others will be inspected to provide a defense against concentrated bombing by any possible invader from the air.

71st Regiment Entains

New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—Fourteen hundred strong, the 71st Infantry Regiment, New York National Guard, entrained today for Fort Dix, N. J., to undergo a year's training. Accompanied by some 300 relatives and friends, some weeping, some cheering, they marched from the armory at 34th street and Park avenue to the Pennsylvania Station four blocks away. Thirteen hours before, the 244th Coast Artillery departed for similar training.

Roosevelt Asks Lists For Boards

President Is Expected to Sign Executive Orders to Set Draft Going

To Name Director

Early Says He's Not Sure When Director Will Be Named

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt ordered into effect today two volumes of rules and regulations for the operation of the nation's first peacetime conscription machinery.

That action followed his request to the 48 governors to organize the draft system in their respective states and to recommend to him immediately persons to be named state directors of selective service and members of local classification and selection boards.

The "book of instructions" for running the draft machine were incorporated in a 61-page executive order, which the President signed as soon as it arrived from Washington this morning.

Prepared by the justice department, a special committee of six named by Mr. Roosevelt to coordinate conscription plans, and Lieut. Col. Lewis B. Hershey, war department draft expert, the order contained voluminous details.

It even contained a diagram, definitions of singular and plural, told the type of furniture to be used in registration offices and the type of telephone calls that would be allowed.

The order said the purpose of selective service was to secure an "orderly, just, and democratic method whereby the military manpower of the United States may be made available for training and service in the land and naval forces of the United States, as provided by the Congress, with the least possible disruption of the social and economic life of the nation."

Asks for Lists

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt disclosed today that he had asked the 48 governors to organize the selective service system in their states and to recommend to him at once persons to be appointed state draft directors and members of local boards.

White House officials said, too, that Mr. Roosevelt probably would sign today an executive order putting into effect the first two volumes of rules and regulations for conscription. The orders and volumes were on the way here from Washington.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, was unable to say, however, whether the appointment of a national director of the draft would follow at once.

The request to the governor's went out in identical, registered airmail letters which said:

"The procurement and training of our manpower under proper administration, fairly and without fear or favor, is undoubtedly the most important single factor in our entire program of national defense. I ask your every help."

Letters Are Sent

The letters were dispatched after Mr. Roosevelt had conferred last night with Robert P. Patterson, assistant secretary of war, and Frederick Osborn, chairman of a special committee of six which the President named Saturday to help coordinate plans for the draft.

The President enclosed in each of the 48 letters a copy of his proclamation setting October 13, as the day for men in the 21 to 35 age bracket to register. He suggested that the state executives

Home of Kidnaped Child

Hillsborough, Calif., Sept. 22 (AP)—Unharmed, baby Marc De Tristan, Jr., was safe in the arms of his titled, rapturously happy family today while tight-lipped Federal Bureau of Investigation men held his accused abductor, the alien German, Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroich, in some secret spot.

Joy reigned in Hillsborough, whose residents last night turned out by the thousands to roar a Hollywood welcome as Count Marc De Tristan proudly bore his son up a long path to the waiting mother, the child's curly head bobbing above the jubilant throng.

On a grimmer note, Chief of Police C. M. Hirschey said:

"I think that more than one person was involved in this kidnaping, and I expect several sensational revelations to be made when the trial opens."

And he added: "I don't want Muhlenbroich in my jail—there are too many trees close by."

The F.B.I. said Muhlenbroich, 40, had confessed kidnaping three-year-old Marc Friday, striking the child's nurse to the street. Yesterday his confused flight ended in mountainous El Dorado county, as two alert hunters braved his revolver to disarm and truss him.

Arrested for illegal entry

Immigration Inspector E. C. Benson of Oakland said the dark-skinned abductor, a seaman, was arrested for illegal entry in 1925, but his records did not show whether he had been deported. The F.B.I. learned he had entered from Canada under the German quota 10 years later.

Chief Hirschey said he had asked the F.B.I. when it finished with Muhlenbroich, to turn him over to San Francisco police for subsequent transfer to San Mateo county. State and county authorities

Clash Near Dongdang

One clash came in the vicinity of Dongdang, on the Chinese border 120 miles northeast of Hanoi, but Yakichiro Suma, Japanese foreign office spokesman, labelled this a "local skirmish" and said it "was entirely due to a misunderstanding on the part of Indo-China" despite the agreement and prolonged negotiations in which Japan "manifested consistent patience and forbearance."

An army spokesman said there was a small number of Japanese dead and wounded. He asserted Indo-Chinese forces fired first when Japanese crossed the border from China during darkness, but laid the action to failure of the Indo-Chinese forces to receive proper instructions.

(Dispatches reaching Shanghai from Haiphong, Indo-China, said the French and the Japanese were settling this "brief but fierce" clash amicably. These dispatches also attributed the skirmish to a misunderstanding and said the fighting ceased upon the arrival of an envoy hurriedly dispatched from Hanoi by General Issaku Nishihara, head of the Japanese mission negotiating the agreement.)

Suma said he believed the Dongdang affair would "be speedily settled locally."

No Territorial Design

The foreign office spokesman said the agreement had been reached because of the "necessity of settling the China affair. It is not based on any territorial design on Indo-China, therefore Japan has no intention of provoking Indo-China."

He declined to say whether the agreement provides for withdrawal of Japanese troops from Indo-China upon the termination of the Japanese conflict with China and said he was unable to make public the terms of the agreement.

In Hanoi, the provisions of the agreement were reported to be:

Immediate landing of a "limited" number of Japanese troops at Haiphong.

Establishment of three Japanese air bases in Tonkin north of the Red river, including one base near Hanoi.

Permission for the Japanese to bring in 6,000 troops to garrison the air bases.

The right to maintain a "few effectives" at Haiphong.

Tokyo Announces Agreement Signed in Hanoi; Some Resistance Reported, but This Is Overcome; Provision Contains Four Main Points

Tokyo, Sept. 23.—The Japanese army and navy, described in authoritative quarters as prepared to meet any "uncalled for intervention" by third powers, began a southward march of empire into French Indo-China today.

(The United States and Britain have informed Japan officially of their interest in maintenance of the status quo in Indo-China.)

The action was described in army and navy quarters as a long stride toward a final settlement of the China war and establishment of Japan's "new order" in East Asia.

Japanese Threat to Singapore Is Seen

Tokyo, Sept. 22 (AP)—Japanese Army and Navy units, bent on an attack on China's "back door" supply routes, have entered French Indo-China, the Japanese government announced today, under the terms of an agreement signed in Hanoi.

"Some skirmishes" were reported to have occurred during the entry last night, but a joint naval and military communique said "these were to be expected and will be over shortly. The advance will proceed smoothly."

Domei, Japanese news agency, said Japanese troops overcame resistance and were advancing south today toward Hanoi without further fighting.

Resistance along the border and elsewhere was said to have been overcome during the night, with Indo-Chinese forces driven back.

(Domei, the authoritative Japanese news agency, said in a broadcast heard in New York that the Japanese suffered several casualties, including some killed.)

(A Domei dispatch detailed "with the Japanese forces in South China" charged that the French had used poison gas.

(The agency, quoting "competent quarters," said the Japanese government was fully prepared against any "uncalled for intervention or pressure which may be brought to bear by any quarter against this agreement," but expressed belief no third power or powers would object to the "peaceful entry of Japanese forces into Indo-China.")

British Cry 'Murder' at Sinking Of Canada-Bound Refugee Ship

London, Sept. 23 (AP)—The sinking of a British refugee ship with a death toll of 293 persons, 83 of them children enroute to Canada, stunned Britons today and brought headlines of "murder" in the London press.

The government waited until today to announce the tragedy of almost a week ago to give welfare workers opportunity to notify the children's parents in London, Liverpool and Middlessex after exhausted survivors were brought to a northern port of England.

The ship, her name undisclosed, was torpedoed 600 miles west of England and sank in a stormy sea within 20 minutes after she was attacked at 10 p. m. last Tuesday, the announcement said.

Of 406 men, women and children aboard, only 113 were brought back alive by a warship which reached the scene at dawn. The stories of heroism and horror they told indicated many perished in the tremendous explosion which ripped the ship. Scores more were swept from wave-tossed lifeboats, or died of injuries and exposure in the night of cold and sleet.

Whole boatloads sank while huddled children piped the boisterous "Roll Out the Barrel."

Berlin Reports Big Fires Are Raging in Heart of London Following Raids

Has Four Motors

Giant Plane Powered by Four Engines and Dwarfs Others

(By The Associated Press)

Germany hurled a new type of "monster" bomber against England today while King George VI, in a broadcast to his empire, declared that "the armies of invasion are massed across the channel" and "we stand in the front line to champion those liberties and traditions that are our heritage."

The king referred to "our friends in America," thanking them for their good will and "their gifts for the relief of suffering in this war."

Even as he spoke, home-bound London crowds ducked into air-raid shelters as sirens wailed for the capital's third alarm since dawn.

Nazi quarters in Berlin reported "tremendous fires" were raging in the heart of London—so great they were visible from the French coast some 90 miles distant.

One hundred and fifty German warplanes bombed Piccadilly Circus, the Regent Park district and shipping docks along the Thames river, the Germans reported, striking with "full strength."

London said the raiders introduced a huge new 4-engined bomber "so big that Messerschmitt fighters appeared like dots around it."

The scream of air-raid sirens went up, by coincidence, just as King George declared that "the battle . . . now is at our very doors." A big flight of German planes was reported directly over London, flying through heavy clouds.

Meanwhile, Hitler's high command reported "retaliatory" raids on London were resumed "at full strength" during the night.

Hour after hour, shutting back and forth across the channel in small groups or singly, the raiders showered bombs on the empire capital, setting fires and spreading new ruin in the mid-city district.

Mass Tactics Used

Then, with the arrival of daylight, the Germans shifted to mass tactics, sending over four great waves of bombers and fighters to strike at London from three directions—over the Dover "Hell's Corner" region, the Essex coast and the Thames Estuary. Bombs fell in western London.

Rigid new British censorship restrictions blacked-out details, but the authoritative British Press Association said anti-aircraft guns and RAF fighter patrols scattered the German formations and drove most of them in disorder across the channel. Five Nazi planes were reported shot down.

While London air-raid sirens wailed, the capital's barrage balloons were sent to a far greater height than ever before in a new move to hamper the raiders.

Other German planes were reported over northwest, southwest and southeast England, indicating a vastly intensified assault. "Invasion weather" was little short of ideal with clearing skies, a light southwest wind and calm waters in the English Channel.

50 Million Pounds

Authorized Nazis in Berlin said 50,000,000 pounds of bombs have been dropped on British targets since July 10, and gave these statistics: 6,000 factories damaged, including 1,400 in the London area; $800,000,000 damage to food and other stores; 20 per cent of Britain's gas and electric plants destroyed or badly damaged; 200 attacks on British ports, 700 raids on airdromes, and hundreds of miles of railroad track damaged.

Amid the mounting fury of the aerial siege, Prime Minister Winston Churchill's government announced plans for building 1,000,000 bunks in London's subterranean air-raid shelters—as well as the distribution of earplugs to all inhabitants of Greater London.

In the Mediterranean struggle, the British fleet reported shelling Italian troops "with good results" along the Egyptian coast, and a Reuters (British news agency) dispatch gave an eye-witness account of the entire village of Sidi Barrani, filled with Italian soldiers who captured it last week, being blown to bits when the British set off land mines.

Proclaims Martial Law

Egypt's Premier Hassan Sabry Pasha proclaimed martial law in a new step to redouble defense preparations, but his cabinet remained committed against a declaration of war on Italy—despite the fact that Fascist legions have already marched 60 miles into the ancient land of the Sphinx.

Textbook Trouble
Greencastle, Ind.—Dr. Harold Zink, Depauw University political science professor, is in a race with current events.
He spent eight years writing a book on foreign governments, but most of the governments are different.
He's reworking the book and hopes to have it ready in revised form by January—provided there aren't any more changes in the meantime.

Foot Work
Raleigh, N. C.—Smoky Joe, negro trainer at North Carolina State for years, claims a share in State's surprise 16-0 football victory over William and Mary.
Joe's remedy for the hard luck of recent seasons was to exchange his rabbit's foot for a fox's foot, and it worked.
"I said my boys were fast as a fox, and I'd try to change their luck with a fox's foot," he said, "and I did."

Ouch!
Kansas City—A patrol car, ambulance and the homicide squad roared to the home of Mrs. Anna Woods after she reported her son had been "shot between the eyes."
Officers found Michael W. Robinson, 14, the son, on the front porch holding his head in his hands. He said he had been "playing war" and playmates shot him—with a rubber band.

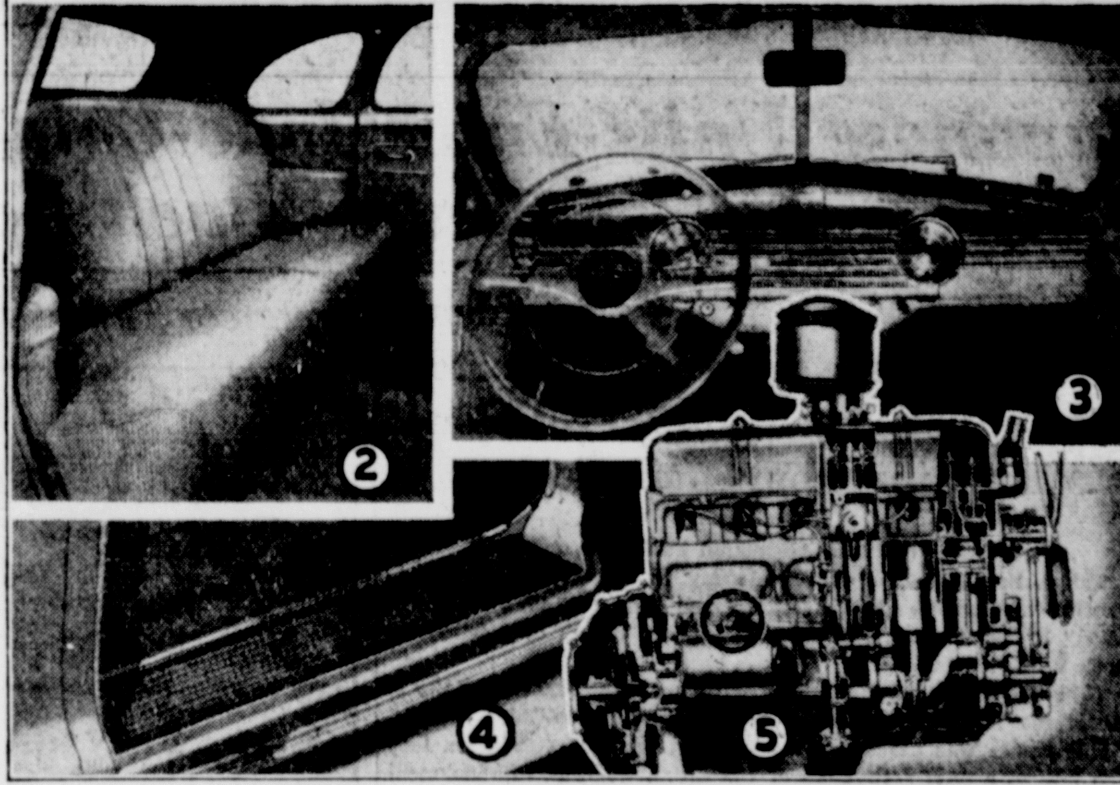

Wrong Strategy
Dallas—Policeman J. M. Ferguson found this note in a feminine hand, pasted on the windshield of an overparked car beside a parking meter:
"Mister Officer—I don't know how long I'm going to be gone, but if I'm gone too long you'll find a nickel under the hood."
The motorist got a ticket.

Seven New Models of Chevrolet

Completely new styling joins with numerous mechanical improvements to make the new 1941 Chevrolet, now on display at all dealers, a worthy successor to the cars which have earned first place in public favor year after year. The greater size and roominess of the new models, as well as their sleek new beauty, are apparent in the Special De Luxe Sport Sedan, shown above.
At (2) is shown the spacious interior of the same model's rear compartment, and at (3) is its front compartment, showing two-spoke steering wheel with horn-blowing ring, new sliding-type sun visors, and smartly re-styled dash.
One of the major changes is substitution of concealed safety-steps (4) for the running boards of other years, an improvement adding to the car's beauty without sacrifice of the safety and convenience which running boards provide. At (5) is the six-cylinder Chevrolet valve-in-head engine for 1941, in which many refinements have been made. Horsepower is increased from 85 to 90 without affecting economy; and cooling, lubrication and carburetion are all improved. In circle is the new switch which reverses the ignition current polarity each time the starter is operated, indefinitely prolonging the life of distributor points.

Seven brand new 1941 models of Chevrolet will go on display Saturday morning at 8 o'clock at the show rooms of the local Colonial City Chevrolet Company, Albany avenue at Broadway, Roy M. Sutcliffe of the company announced today.

This will be the first showing of the 1941 line of Chevrolets and will come as a part of the nationwide display of Chevrolet.

For 1941 Chevrolet offers a longer, larger and wider car, powered by the famous valve-in-head engine. Specifications will be available at the Colonial City Chevrolet salesrooms Saturday. This year there will be two models, the Master De Luxe and the Special De Luxe, each with identical mechanical specifications and both cars will be equipped with knee-action this year, discontinuing last year's practice of producing one model without knee-action.

Lines have been greatly improved and numerous mechanical changes have been made to add to economy, comfort and ease of operation. Colonial City Chevrolet invites the motoring public to inspect the new 1941 Chevrolet line on Saturday morning.

Both the master and special series will be mounted on an identical chassis and will include a coupe, four-passenger coupe, town sedan, sport sedan and station wagon and in the Special De Luxe series will be a cabriolet model.

Doctors Praised For Effective Job With Guard Units

The four physicians, who made up the Induction Board, which inducted into federal service the members of the local units of the 156th Field Artillery, have completed their duties and three of them, including First Lt. Virgil G. DeWitt of New Paltz, and First Lt. B. J. Dutto, of Kingston, have again resumed their private practice. Major Edwin P. Kolb has also resumed his private duties and Capt. Thomas H. Ainsworth will accompany the regiment to camp.

In commenting upon the efficient work of the four physicians, Major Charles Behrens today said that the work of the local board had been "top" in the regiment and the task had been completed in record time, allowing the physicians to resume their practice with a minimum of inconvenience to their patients.

Not only was the local board first to complete its duties but the work accomplished was highly praised by the regimental officers for the high standard set. The local board was the first one to complete its duties and be released.

Commenting upon the recruits who have signed up with the local artillery units since recruiting was opened up, Major Behrens said they were a high type of men and included in the number was several professional men. There were still 15 vacancies today but it was expected that before the local units leave Wednesday morning all vacancies will be filled.

Roosevelt Asks Lists for Boards

Issue similar proclamations. From the registrants 400,000 men will be picked promptly for a year's military training.

"I request you," Mr. Roosevelt wrote each governor, "to carry out the registration within your state and to call upon your local election officials and other patriotic citizens, to serve on the registration boards and in all other ways to assist in making the registration full and complete."

Following the registration, local boards will take charge of the classification and selection of men, and the President said it was "all-important," that the boards be composed of people in whom the community "has the greatest confidence."

He asked the governors to recommend to him with the greatest expedition the names of citizens "whose loyalty, integrity and fair-mindedness beyond question" for members of the boards, boards of appeal and for government appeal agents and examining physicians.

In Hands of Governors
He left it to the state executives to appoint advisory boards for registrants and medical advisory boards.

Expressing confidence that many thousands of patriotic citizens would offer their services, the Chief Executive made it plain they would receive no compensation, except for clerical help. He proposed that the governors draw upon state and local employees and said he thought state employment services and public welfare agencies would be particularly helpful to local boards.

Historically and nationally, Mr. Roosevelt wrote, it is entirely fitting that responsibility for conscription activities in the states rest on the governors. He added: "A favorable and intelligent public opinion, based on a just and impartial administration of this most important defense measure, can be more effective in securing proper and effective administration of the law than the penalties written into the statute."

A date for registration in American territories and possessions has not yet been fixed. Early said it probably would be set soon and that similar letters would go to their chief executives and to the commissioners of the District of Columbia.

Two Slight Fires

According to the fire department the fire started from sparks from the chimney. The damage was slight. Sunday at noon grease in a gas oven in the house of Joseph Schrowang at 58 Clifton avenue, became ignited. The fire department was called. There was no damage aside from smoke.

Yesterday's hero, a hard-fisted, modest 220-pound saw-mill owner named Cecil Wetzel, temporarily dropped from view after delivering the handsome boy and his sullen kidnaper to federal men at River Pine, a village of 50 souls.

The child had not a mark or bruise, the De Tristan family physician said, yet it was learned he had been perilously close to death in the wild ride of the stolen kidnap car.

Rounding a sharp curve in the mountain dark, the car plunged over a 40-foot embankment. Man and child were unhurt, and Mullenbroich climbed up to the road and at gunpoint took the car of the next passerby, William Gianatasio, of Sacramento.

Transferring the child and his stock of canned goods and ammunition to the new vehicle, Mullenbroich roared on—until a few hours later he lost his way.

Meets Wetzel
Then he met Wetzel, taking a log truck to his Omo ranch mill. "How in the hell do I get out of here?" he asked.

Wetzel, the San Francisco Chronicle said in a copyright story had already noted the fair-haired child, clad only in a sunsuit, in the car.

The lumberman, a former Washington State College football player and wrestler, gave directions, then followed Mullenbroich until he stopped for further instruction. Wetzel stepped to the road, moved in close and grunted, "How about that baby?"

The suspected kidnaper drew a revolver and Wetzel dived for him. They rolled briefly in a welter of flying fists, dust and weapons, a fight for life on Wetzel's part, a fight against life imprisonment on Mullenbroich's.

Ellis Wood, a lumberjack, arrived in time to help Wetzel take a second revolver from Mullenbroich—who had a holster under each arm—and bind him with stout cord.

In Wetzel's car the woodmen drove to River Pine with the wide-eyed child and sullen kidnaper. Wetzel telephoned authorities, while Marc, Jr., whose last food had been pineapple juice the night before—was fed and warmed at Frank Breidenbach's general store. For three hours Mullenbroich lay trussed on the floor of the barbershop next door, under the buzzers of rifles in the hands of watchful River Pine folk, while Marc played with the Breidenbach's spaniel.

Parents Are Called
A telephone call to the parents turned grief into wildest delight at the spacious home of the De Tristan's. The Count was at prayer in a nearby chapel at the time, but in a few moments armloads of champagne were being carried into the house.

Mrs. Della Miles, postmistress at Auburn, disclosed some of the first details of the rescue in a telephone call to the San Francisco Chronicle. Marc readily told her his name. Unconvinced, Mrs. Miles asked, "What is your mother's name?"

"Mommie," said Marc. "What other name has she?"

"Jane," said Marc. "What other name has she?"

Countess De Tristan was formerly Jane Christenson, daughter of the late Edwin Christenson, wealthy lumberman. She is the stepdaughter of Louis Shattuck Cates, president of the vast Phelps-Dodge Corp., one of the world's greatest copper companies.

Federal men brought the boy to San Francisco, where he was turned over to his joyful father. Count De Tristan and the baby's great-uncle, A. B. Cahill of San Francisco, drove the child 20 miles farther down the San Francisco peninsula to Hillsborough, where a scene of carnival gaiety waited.

Newsreel floodlights, crowds roped off by police, reporters, cameramen, and broadcasting equipment surrounded and flowed onto the well-kept grounds.

Great Cheer Rises
A great cheer rose as the car rolled to a stop and the smiling count stepped out with Marc, Jr., flushed with excitement, in his arms. In a moment the countess clasped her son in her arms.

"My angel, my angel," she murmured.

The family had frantically broadcast its willingness to pay the $100,000 ransom demanded in the kidnap note of "unconventional eccentric." But he had never made contact.

Long after little Marc disappeared into the luxury of his home—still clad only in the scanty red, white and blue sunsuit in which he was seized, and without his white sandals—the crowd lingered.

They were rewarded. A light appeared in an upstairs bedroom. Nurse Mary Foley, who had been viciously beaten in resisting the kidnaper Friday, lifted Marc to the window.

He was all ready for bed, and he waved his hand. The throng roared its good night.

Collision Reported
A dump truck operated by Leslie Terpening, 35, of Rifton, and a sedan operated by William J. Goodignon, 69, of 83 West Pierpont street, Kingston, collided Sunday afternoon near the Eddyville bridge. Terpening stopped after the crash but later left the scene and Deputy Sheriff Ray Winne was called to make an investigation. He located the truck at Rifton, and after a discussion with Goodignon, a settlement was made for damages to the sedan.

Y.M.C.A. Opening Dinner October 1

GEORGE H. FRYER

The Kingston Y. M. C. A. has been fortunate in securing George H. Fryer, former investment counselor for the financial district of New York city, as speaker at the fourth annual fall grand opening dinner on Tuesday, October 1, at 6:15 p. m., announces Chairman Raymond Garraghan of the "Y" Social Committee.

The Ladies' Auxiliary under the leadership of Mrs. George DuBois will serve the usual appetizing turkey dinner which has made our past year's affairs a splendid success.

Through the courtesy of Jack Bennet of WKNY, there will be talent present which should make the grand opening dinner the most outstanding in the history of the Kingston Y. M. C. A.

Willkie Proposes Two Big Dams Go To Work for Area

Bonneville, Grand Coulee Should Be Completed, He Says, to Prevent Waste of Millions

Portland, Ore., Sept. 23 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie urged today that electric power from the Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams be used for the industrial development of the northwest and for domestic use at the lowest possible rates.

The Republican presidential nominee, who formerly headed the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation, made public in advance this excerpt of a speech prepared for a rally in the civic auditorium: "The United States government has invested some 270 million dollars in the development of Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams. It seems inconceivable, therefore, that anyone would suggest that these projects should not be completed."

For Public Benefit
"In connection with this great navigation and reclamation project, large quantities of power are developed. This power obviously should be disposed of for the benefit of the public."

8 Drivers Picked Up on Week-End Other Arrests Are Made for Vagrancy, Drinking

Eight arrests were made over the week-end by the police department of auto drivers accused of traffic violations. The police also made four arrests on charges of public intoxication, and one on a charge of vagrancy.

Harold Shutz of New Oxford, Pa., charged with speeding 40 miles an hour on East Chester street, forfeited $10 bail when his case was called in police court today and he failed to appear.

Hyman Rubin of Brooklyn, charged with failing to produce a certificate of registration, furnished $5 bail for his appearance later.

John Bordenstein of Bloomington was fined $2 for failing to observe a full stop sign. A fine of similar amount was imposed on Willie Underwood, a negro of Milton, charged with passing a red traffic light.

Thomas C. Velle of Newburgh forfeited $5 bail when he failed to answer to a charge of passing a full stop sign.

Paul Black of 32 Chambers street, forfeited $2 bail when he did not appear in answer to a charge of overtime parking.

Patsy Belisto of Glasco furnished $5 bail for his appearance later in answer to a charge of parking in the restricted area on John street.

William N. Fessenden of 98 Fair street forfeited $2 bail for failing to answer to a charge of driving a car with a junior operator's license during prohibited hours.

Thomas Carroll, who said he lived on Elmendorf street, appeared in police court wearing but one shoe. He said he did not know where he had lost the other shoe, and that he had also mislaid his hat. He was sentenced to four days in jail on a charge of public intoxication.

Ernest Every of Franklin street pleaded not guilty to a charge of public intoxication, and his hearing was set for Wednesday morning.

Robert Goodman, a negro of East Kingston, who had never been arrested before, received a suspended sentence when arraigned on a charge of public intoxication. A similar sentence was imposed on Fred Schaad of Gardiner, who is employed on a farm.

George Van Vleet, 53, who told Judge Cahill he had no home, faced the court on a charge of vagrancy. He claimed he was afflicted with cancer and doctors had given him but two months to live. He said he was in Kingston looking for a relative. His story led to his discharge by the court.

$1,407,245.74 in Fight Infantile Paralysis Drive

Washington, Sept. 24.—Again exceeding all previous records, the 1940 "fight infantile paralysis" campaign raised a net total of $1,407,245.74, President Roosevelt was informed today.

This sum provides much-needed ammunition to carry on the nation's fight against the maiming invader on all fronts and the battle, despite epidemics now raging in several states, is progressing satisfactorily.

Keith Morgan, national chairman of the committee for the celebration of the President's birthday which raised the money, made the report at the White House to the President and to Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Colonel D. Walker Wear of New York, assistant national chairman, George E. Allen of Washington, chairman of the "March of Dimes" birthday card division, Eddie Cantor, chairman of the "March of Dimes" on the air, Edwin R. Stettinius, Jr., of New York, trustee of the National Foundation.

The President received from Chairman Morgan a beautifully bound certificate summing up the results of the 1940 campaign. Of the total net proceeds of $1,407,245.74 raised on the occasion of the President's 58th birthday, $768,780.29 remained in the communities and chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis throughout the country.

This sum of money since last February has been a reservoir of supply for the aid and care of those afflicted with the disease.

A total sum of $638,465.45 is available for the National Foundation as its share of the total proceeds. This fund will enable the foundation to carry on the all important scientific and medical work aimed at eradicating and controlling the disease.

who received an honorable discharge, has had a long army career. During the World War he served with the 27th Division in France and was wounded several times in battle. He has been an armory employee for some years, and will still retain that position.

Battery A still needs 20 recruits and Headquarters Battery needs 12, a total of 32 men needed to bring the two units up to full peacetime strength.

Recruiting will continue today and Tuesday in an effort to obtain the necessary number of recruits.

Both units leave the state armory Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock en route for Fort Dix at Wrightstown, N. J., where it is expected they will spend a full year in intensive military training.

Germans Say Ship Sinking Is Merely 'Tear Jerker' Trick

Berlin Asks Why Name of Ship Was Not Given; Denies Action by Any German Agency

Berlin, Sept. 23 (AP).—Official German circles today described the story of the sinking of a British refugee ship as a "tear jerker" intended to get the United States into the war on Britain's side.

It was said officially no passenger vessel identifiable as such had been torpedoed by any German U-boat or plane either within or outside the announced blockade zone.

Further, it was said officially, not even a freighter has been torpedoed or sunk by a plane outside the announced blockade zone unless it was clearly armed. Naval circles said no U-boat or plane has been operating 600 miles off the English coast.

German official sources asked why the name of the steamer was not given. A German source said the whole thing was regarded here as a maneuver to furnish a talking point for the radio address of King George this afternoon.

The British announcement of the torpedoing drew the Nazi comment that "if such a ship had been sunk, due notice has been given to all nations of a total blockade around Britain."

Nazis asserted they considered it "strange" the sinking was not reported until the night preceding an address by King George VI.

"It might have been used as a primer," one said. "It looks like efficient propaganda."

King Peter I of Yugoslavia, when crowned in 1904, wore a bronze crown made from captured Turkish guns.

Two Persons Die In Arsenal Blast

Picatinny Plant Is Scene of Tragedy; 11 Hurt During Cap Work

Dover, N. J., Sept. 23 (AP).—Two persons were killed and 11 injured today in an explosion at the United States army's Picatinny arsenal.

It was the second fatal munitions blast in the Dover area within a fortnight. The explosion of a smokeless powder line at the Kenvil plant of the Hercules Powder Company September 12 took 50 lives.

Those killed at Picatinny were Elias Lawrence, 49, of Route 6, Rockaway, and John E. Goodwin, 26, of Towaco. Col. A. S. Buyers, public relations officer at the arsenal, said the explosion occurred as employees were taking apart fuses of World War shells, "a dangerous job at best."

Screens Protect Several
They were in a building about 30 by 50 feet in size and set apart for this operation. Each employee was protected by screens, which apparently prevented serious injury to any of the six reported hurt. Buyers said he thought there were only eight persons in the structure. The blast caused "some damage" in one of the buildings, Buyers said.

A military board began an immediate investigation to determine the cause of the blast. Colonel Buyers said it apparently occurred when fulminate of mercury, used in the fuses, "let go."

The operation was to recover the metal parts of the fuses, which would then be loaded with fresh explosives and used again.

Picatinny arsenal develops and manufactures for the army all types of ammunition except that for small arms. On its 2,297 acres are more than 500 buildings of all sizes.

The explosion occurred about 7

a. m. (EST). One victim was taken to the Dover General Hospital, still crowded with injured from the Kenvil blast, but was dead on arrival.

case was held open pending further investigation.

At the time of the accident Lerner was driving south along route 9-W with his wife and daughter. He told Trooper Martin he felt a bump against his car and heard glass break. He stopped and went back to investigate and found Touhey's body lying on the pavement.

Lerner and two motorists who were near at the time, Bruce Scofield of Wappingers Falls and Dr. C. C. Zacharie of Marlborough, moved the injured man to the side of the road, where the physician gave first aid and ordered him taken to St. Luke's Hospital.

Death was due to a compound fracture of the skull, a fracture at the base of the skull and a compound fracture of the right leg.

Coroner Jesse McHugh of Wallkill was called and made an investigation but withheld his verdict pending further investigation. Coroner William Doulin of Orange county, where the death took place, was also called on the case.

ALIENS "PLAY BALL"

Our alien residents appear to be doing their part nobly in the huge task of registration. It was originally thought that the daily average of registrations would have to be 36,000 in order to complete the work by December 26. So far, the average has been 25 per cent greater, or about 45,114.

The division of alien registration of the Department of Justice finds such progress in all parts of the country. It should be recognized that full cooperation of the aliens themselves makes this possible. They have come forward willingly and promptly, not from fear of consequences if they failed but from a genuine desire to help.

It might interest the dictators to learn that men and women from the countries they have invaded and now dominate are allowed here to call themselves "Czechs" or "Poles" or "Albanians" or "Ethiopians," instead of "German" or "Italian" or "Russian." It is a hint that possibly all those re-made boundary lines are neither recognized as legal nor considered permanent.

SEEING HOW THE TOWN WORKS

Before long it should no longer be true that visitors to a city know more about its special features than local residents. The study of civics and social science, now a part of most public school programs, is not confined to old-style textbook reading.

It is the custom now to take classes to visit museums, market houses, fire departments, zoos, town halls, and so on. Classroom lectures and assigned reading are supplemented by experience, visual study and talks at the governmental department or public service being investigated.

Old-timers complain that this isn't study, particularly since the pupils mostly have a good time and regard the inspection tours as mere excursions. Advocates of the method say it develops initiative and understanding. There should be no real quarrel between the two groups. A well-rounded education might include the old-fashioned discipline of the Three R's plus the new-fashioned stimulation of the field trips and close-up study of a community.

GREAT AIR FEAT

There may be a thousand great stories in the war every day, most of which newspapers don't get except in general terms or statistical reports. But every now and then a great yarn comes through in the day's grist of news. Here is the best story we've come across lately. It is a very modern tale, told in a dispatch from London with the terseness and clarity of a biblical narrative. Quote:

"A British Spitfire pilot used his flaming plane as a projectile to bring down a German bomber. At the height of the fighting the flyer shot down two Dornier bombers from a formation and flew away, only to find that the tail of his Spitfire was literally spitting fire. He headed back toward the German formation, took a bead on the nearest Dornier, and leaped clear just before the collision. The Briton landed safely in the street of a southeast town, while the Germans crashed to earth."

All that a normal American can say to that is "Gosh!"

If you get the full implication of the pilot's skill and daring, it leaves you speechless.

TOUGH ON TEACHERS

To an outsider it looks like a hard year in the schools, for teachers of history, geography and government. So many things have changed through the summer, and such unprecedented changes are in progress now. Many textbooks are outdated. Many nations have disappeared down conquerors' throats. New forms of warfare have arisen. Methods of communication and transport are altered before our eyes. History is being made so fast that we can't keep track of it.

It will be an interesting and busy educational year, with many embarrassing facts bobbing up in classes, and many questions from eager youngsters that can't be answered.

And what can the teachers do? What, indeed, but face facts and interpret changes as clearly and honestly as they can? And they needn't fear to tell the truth to youngsters. Indeed, the pupils may sometimes beat them to the inner truth of things.

TRADE CAREERS

Eight thousand more pupils have enrolled in New York's vocational public schools this fall than a year ago, according to a Board of Education announcement, and last year's enrollment was the high mark at that time. There are already waiting lists at all the trade schools.

The most popular courses are aviation, the automotive trades and the mechanical studies allied broadly with the national defense program. Other subjects in demand are trade dressmaking, beauty culture, electrical installation and printing.

Here is evidence that the "white collar job" no longer dominates the educational scene. A lot of intelligent young folks have decided they'd rather make a lower start, in a trade with opportunity for advancement, than an apparently better start in an occupation with little future.

SHIPS

"Between war and domestic business," says a business writer, "the outlook for American shipbuilding companies is better than it has been for many years." This statement applies to ships for normal, domestic transportation as well as warships and vessels for supplementary service to the navy.

Obviously there is going to be a lot of hauling to do, by land and by water, in the years now coming at us. And when the emergency is over, there will remain enormous water-carrying capacity, if democracy comes out on top.

Whether there will also be cargoes for the ships then is another question, which nobody can answer now.

Some of our ablest thinkers haven't yet solved the problem of how to pay a red-cap for grabbing their baggage and running away with it.

OVERACTIVE THYROID

I wrote recently of how a lack of thyroid juice would make children slow at school and put excess fat on the body. As there might be no other symptoms present, the parents just accept the fact that their child is not as bright as he should be.

A metabolism test which shows that the body processes are slow due to lack of thyroid juice, enables the physician to prescribe the necessary amount of thyroid extract to speed up both the mental and physical processes.

When there is too much thyroid juice being manufactured, every mental and physical process is speeded up, the youngster is bright at school, plays too hard, sleeps poorly and is underweight. As mentioned before, too much thyroid juice is like having the draft of a furnace open all the time, causing the fire to burn fiercely and use up the fuel in a short time.

Dr. Paul A. White in Hygieia, the health magazine, points out that allowing a youngster or an adult with too much thyroid juice to go untreated may result in damage to the vital organs in a very short time. Too much thyroid juice causes a "dynamic" state of excitement and overwork causing exhaustion in tissues and organs. If no treatment is given, there will be nervousness, trembling, sweating, pounding heart and ravenous appetite. Extreme loss of weight and bulging eyes finally tell what is wrong to everybody.

Simple enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck without symptoms, no rapid heart beat or trembling present, requires no treatment and usually disappears by the age of 25. In these cases the lump may be so large that it is removed because of its unsightly appearance.

What treatment is given when the thyroid gland is manufacturing too much juice?

In early cases the treatment is rest and iodine and sometimes just rest alone. In cases where the symptoms are more severe and there is danger of exhaustion, the removal of part or all of the thyroid gland gives immediate results.

When surgery is not advisable, or the patient objects to operation, the X-ray is the treatment given but it takes months instead of weeks to give satisfactory results.

Raleigh's Eden
By Inglis Fletcher

It is as if Inglis Fletcher had picked up a great section of pre-Revolutionary North Carolina in her "Raleigh's Eden," and had moved it forward through time to the present. In the process a small detail is lost, and no warmth either. The effect is not that of those furnished rooms from the old days such as one finds in museums, sometimes with figures standing about them. Everything moves at its normal pace; color and emotion run as high as in life.

Raleigh's Eden was the district around Albemarle Sound, and when Mrs. Fletcher begins her story in 1765 it is a lovely district of stately houses in which live the gentry, and sound farms on which live the Colonial equivalent of the English yeoman. Left to itself, Raleigh's Eden might very well have managed indefinitely to maintain its high and beautiful standard. But across the Atlantic is a rapacious British government whose purpose seems to be to milk the colonies white.

Elsewhere in Carolina there is a mixed population of less aristocratic standards which is resentful of Raleigh's Eden. At sea there are picturesque pirates.

The tumult increases. It gathers force like a storm and bursts in the Revolution. Fletcher carries her story through the surrender of Cornwallis to 1782, and when she leaves it strong men and women such as her Adam Rutledge and her Mary Warden have the task of rebuilding Eden out of the bare bones left by war. The tangle of political and social differences is still almost as bad as at the beginning, but at least the uncertainties of alien rule are eliminated. And some of the emotional

Mrs. Fletcher's "plot" is too complicated even for summary, using as it does fictional and actual characters indiscriminately, mixing real major houses in the Albemarle district with others from the author's imagination. It is almost enough to say that this is as careful and at times as stirring a historical novel as the year will provide. But not quite. The reader should also be warned that it is perhaps too long. Mrs. Fletcher looked at her setting for six years, and apparently she reached the position where every detail, even the position of a candle in a drawing room, seemed important to her. Two-thirds of her 662 pages would have been adequate.

Roosevelt Resents Being Called 'Communist,' but Displays Strange Leaning in Recent Philadelphia Speech

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 23.—President Roosevelt in the last campaign resented being called a Communist and in a liberal sense was right, but he gave strange confirmation in his "non-political" Friday speech at Philadelphia to the fact that he thinks far more of the Communist and Soviet governing system of handling factories and plants in relation to government than he does the free enterprise system of American democracy.

What the President said may be shocking to those outside of Washington, who heard him say he did not care to accept the views of managers of American enterprises or owners and cared more for the "aggregate judgment" of all the workers, but it is in line with the entire New Deal philosophy as applied for seven years. In fact, the President has rendered a distinct service to the present campaign by saying more clearly than anybody else among his opponents has ever said it, namely, that the New Deal believes at heart in the Soviet workers committee idea for management.

The reason why America is today helpless in defense, why the entire defense program is not "on hand" but "on order" is because Mr. Roosevelt has refused to listen to the managers of American business except when it was politically desirable for him to give such an impression. Thus dozens of very capable and efficient business men have been wisely brought down here to participate in the work of the National Defense Council, but they must have the approving judgment of New Deal radicals before a single major policy involving production can be accepted—the President being the man who has refused to delegate really vital decisions to anybody.

Of these business men stationed here, nine out of ten will vote for Willkie this year because they believe the kind of "experience" which the New Dealers are boasting about as needing a third term is really "experience" with politics and political methods and with a constant playing to votes by just such speeches as the leader of the New Deal made at Philadelphia.

Everybody who knows anything about the present war in Europe knows it is based on mechanized weapons and that engines for airplanes, tanks, bombs, powder and all of the paraphernalia of modern war can be accumulated only out of an efficient industrial machine. This means that the managers of America's industrial machinery must be trusted and given full pay to manufacture as quickly as human ingenuity can do it the needed weapons for war.

But the President doesn't trust the industrial managers. For at least two years he has had before him, on the advice of admirals in the navy and generals in the army, proposals that would have facilitated the building of new defense plants. But Mr. Roosevelt didn't do anything about it and the principal reason is that he didn't trust the managers of industry. He feared they possibly might make an extra dollar out of defense contracts.

No such solicitude was shown about WPA or AAA money when it was disbursed by the government. Billions have been disbursed on leaky projects which could never be American workers continuously employed. But there were more votes in the WPA rain of checks than in encouraging industry in the last seven years.

What Mr. Roosevelt said about his interest in the judgment of the many instead of the few fits in with his political attitude toward industry, but it doesn't fit at all with what he actually does every day in Washington with respect to government. If ever there was an institution in the world which today relies on the judgment of a few—the brain trusters and the radicals who have access to the White House—it is the administration now in power in Washington.

Wendell Willkie has said that America's defense program has lagged because the President didn't understand the processes of industry, and that this was because Franklin Roosevelt never worked with his hands or wove ever a part of the business and industrial processes of America. The Philadelphia speech shows that Mr. Roosevelt thinks business can be run by a vote of the many. In Russia this is the rule. Workers committees make all the decisions. Last year the CIO demanded this, namely, control over the production of goods in the industry, and they were denied it in a long and painful strike. But the idea has just been given approval by implication in the Philadelphia speech when the President lays stress on collectivism as a doctrine of government that he favors. He said:

"And on such questions, the aggregate total judgment of a farm owner, of the farmer and of the farm hands will be sounder. I think, than the judgment of the farm owner alone."

"I would rather rely on the aggregate opinion, on matters affecting government, of a railroad president and its superintendents, its engineers, its foremen, its brakemen, the conductors, trainmen, and telegraphers and porters and all the others than on the sole opinion of a few in control of the management or of the principal stockholders themselves."

But what the "matters affecting government" today? They are matters arising out of the need for increased industrial production so as to get weapons of war made quickly. What were these "matters affecting government" for the last seven years? They were matters arising principally out of the need for putting idle men back into jobs. Failure has come in both instances because Mr. Roosevelt discarded the pleadings of business men, the managers of free enterprise, the owners who were risking their savings for the American enterprise system.

But Mr. Roosevelt wouldn't listen. He decided there were more votes in adopting the Communistic approach, and that's why with commendable frankness he declared last Friday that "on candidates and on election issues" he would rather "trust the aggregate judgment of the people in a factory," giving the president and general manager only one voice apiece along with the thousands of others who risk no capital and have no technical knowledge of management, which, in turn, is today directly subject to government control and regulation. It is this "leftist" and radical issue, springing from Communistic doctrine all over the world that will have to be voted on at the polls this November, for the President has clearly defined the issue himself.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 20.—Jules Engleberry and family are occupying the state road house of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Otis, who recently returned to Kingston.

Mrs. Nelson Bell, one of Shokan's oldest citizens, is reported as much improved in health following a serious illness.

Business callers in Shokan Thursday included Joe Aaronofsky, popular Tongore butcher and cattle buyer. Joe is planning to add some beef cattle to the herd on his large dairy farm at Kripplibush.

William Windrum, whose funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at Kerhonkson, had a number of friends in this section, where he formed a residence for many years. Mr. Windrum's boyhood home, along the old Plank Road is now a part of the reservoir preserve. He was engaged in farming and teaming here before removing to Kerhonkson about 30 years ago.

The Beechford dairy farm at the Olive-Shandaken town line was inspected Thursday by Miss Anita Wallerstein and her pupils of the Ashokan school. The trip was made in connection with a current study course on milk production.

At this writing there have been no killing frosts in the north reservoir country, much to the satisfaction of local residents, whose gardens are now yielding good crops. Tomato vines especially are heavily laden, though some rot is reported. Cucumbers and beans are doing first rate, while many gardeners still are enjoying late sweet corn.

Sept. 21, 1861, Cornelius B. Merrihew died at Tongore. Funeral services, held in the Shokan Reformed Church on the 22nd and conducted by the Rev. Mr. Betts, were attended by a large number of persons. The deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Merrihew, prominent residents of the Tongore section of Olive.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Phillips, a New York city couple who spent two weeks here last fall, are expected to be in Shokan next week for a vacation. Mr. Phillips is convalescent following an operation for appendicitis.

Willis Everett, octogenarian resident of Lake Katrine who died Sunday evening, had many friends in Shokan where he formerly

IN COUNTY GRANGES

Pomona Grange
Highland Grange No. 886 was host to the Ulster County Pomona Grange at its regular September meeting held in the Highland Grange hall in Lloyd. The meeting was opened in the Fifth Degree by the Worthy Master Bro. Albert Kurtz. The opening song was "Beautiful River of Time."

The following members were appointed pro tem to fill the offices of: Chaplain, Brother Crossman; steward, Brother Sahler; gatekeeper, Brother Harold Clark; Flora, Sister Stella Ketterson; lady assistant steward, Sister Anna Minkler.

Brother Francis Gaffney as chairman of the Grange Fair committee, commented on the Grange exhibits especially, and said they had improved greatly and every one was satisfactory.

He also commented on the Grange exhibits and said he felt they were far better since they were really agricultural exhibits. He also said the fair management was ready and eager to receive suggestions to better the fair.

A letter was received from the state lecturer asking that Pomona lecturer be sent to the State Grange meeting in December.

The following committees were appointed: Committee on applications, Brother Francis Gaffney, Sister Virginia Hooke and Brother Percy Gazlay; finance committee, Sister Mary Bell, Brother Crossman and Brother Sahler; resolutions committee for deceased members, Sister Styles, Brother Saile and Sister M. Bell.

The next meeting of the Pomona Grange will be held in the Clintondale Grange hall, Clintondale, on Friday, November 29, instead of the first Friday in December, in order that any resolutions may be taken care of before the regular State Grange session in December.

The March meeting of the Pomona Grange will be held in the Huguenot Grange Hall in New Paltz, on the regular day.

A motion was made and carried that the worthy master appoint a committee of five to make arrangements for entertaining the State Grange in December, and the following were appointed on that committee: Brother Harold Story, Brother I. C. Barnes, Sister Beatrice Everett, Sister Addie Graham and Brother Percy Gazlay.

Sister Addie Graham, chairman

New Vaccine Is Believed Preventive of Pneumonia

WASHINGTON.—Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, surgeon general of the army, reported that experiments on 115,000 CCC enrollees indicated that a recently developed vaccine "has definite value as a preventive of pneumonia."

The vaccine is not to be confused with the successful pneumonia serums which are administered after the illness has set in; vaccines are designed to prevent a person from contracting a disease in the first place.

If subsequent experiments bear out the CCC tests this vaccine would be the first effective preventive of pneumonia ever developed, it was pointed out.

Comstock Lode Still Is Producing After Years

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV.—It was back in the last century that the Comstock lode dazzled the country with its rich production of gold and silver—but there's wealth in the old hills yet. Enough ore is being produced to keep eight mills running and mining men say the monthly yield may conservatively be set at $200,000.

A California Victory

In the recent California primary election Senator Hiram Johnson, a candidate for reelection to his seat in the senate, virtually annihilated his opponents in capturing the Republican, Democratic and Progressive nominations. He polled about twice as many votes as all the other candidates put together.

Much enthusiasm is being shown in the plans for the annual class day of Kingston Council, No. 356, United Commercial Travelers of America, which will be held Thursday, October 31, at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The highlight of the occasion will be the visit of the Supreme Counselor John M. Bailey of McCook, Neb. This will be one of only two or three visits which the supreme counselor will make in the east this year and a large delegation of members is expected to be present to greet him. The business meeting and initiation of the large class of candidates will take place at 5 o'clock and the banquet at 7 o'clock. Addresses will be made by Supreme Counselor John M. Bailey, Supreme Junior Counselor Edward S. Morris of Kingston, who will be elevated to the office of supreme counselor next year, and Grand Counselor F. Charles Grummond of Binghamton.

The toastmaster for this banquet will be the Rev. Clarence E.

Brown, sentinel of Kingston Council. After the banquet there will be dancing. It is expected that delegates will be present from the Grand Jurisdiction of New Jersey-Delaware, Metropolitan District of New York city, Capitol District, Middletown, Newburgh, Cortland, N. Y.

The class day is being conducted by a committee composed of the Rev. Clarence E. Brown, chairman; Harry Schryver, Charles R. Abbott, Edward S. Morris, William C. Dutton, Charles Czerwinski, James W. Abbott, Patrick Murphy, Robert T. Southwick.

The United Commercial Travelers of America is not only an organization of traveling men, but also traveling and professional men united in a common faith of brotherhood and acting under the principles of fraternalism and patriotism to carry forward a program of progress this year. Under a four year program the salient points of this program are, "Americanism," "Fraternalism," "Ritualistic Work" and "Personal Effort." The headquarters of the order is Columbus, O.; the officers of Kingston Council are Charles R. Abbott, senior counselor; Harry G. Schryver, junior counselor; Lester O. Reynolds, past counselor; William C. Dutton, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Robert Ploss, conductor; Charles Czerwinski, page; the Rev. Clarence E. Brown, sentinel; W. Frank Davis, chaplain; with an executive committee composed of Samuel Feldman, Patrick Murphy, Leon C. Wilbur and Fred C. Lang.

Is Rearrested

Alfred Ose, 32, of Highland, who was arrested by Trooper Benson following an accident in the town of Marlborough Thursday night and released in custody of his attorney, after he had demanded a jury trial on a charge of driving while intoxicated, was rearrested Friday night after it appeared from the records that he is a second offender. He demanded an examination when arraigned before Justice P. A. Lyon, of Milton, and furnished a $500 property bond for appearance before the justice September 25.

Three Are Chosen For Marine School

Bayer, Halm and Dunlop Have Been Selected

New York, Sept. 20 (Special).—William Charles Bayer of Gardiner, Albert Halm of Pine Bush and George Malcolm Dunlop of Marlborough are among 96 young men who have been selected from a large number of applicants for admission to the New York State Marine Academy, Fort Schuyler, it was announced yesterday by Capt. J. H. Tomb, U. S. N. retired, superintendent of the academy.

The 96 will inaugurate the academy's new three-year course. Formerly the course took two years, but demands of the steamship companies and the United States Maritime Commission for the addition of certain subjects to the curriculum necessitated the lengthening period. Each of the men has passed a rigid physical examination such as is given to naval academy candidates.

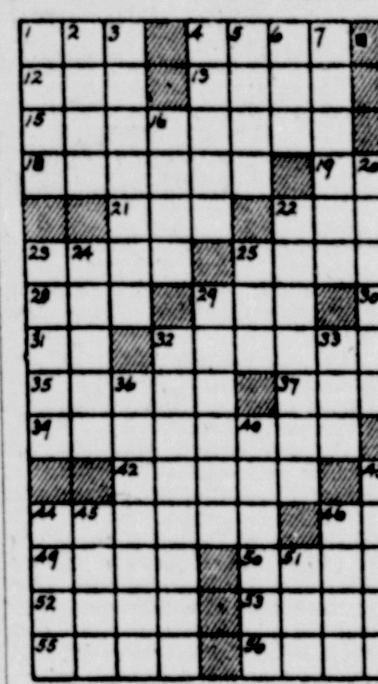

Upon graduation in 1943, the students will become ensigns in the United States Naval Reserve and, on passing their federal examinations, will get licenses as third mates or third assistant engineers.

Red Cross Relief To England Nears Five Million Mark

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—Chairman Norman H. Davis today informed the Central Committee of the American Red Cross that Red Cross relief to the war-wounded and needy in Great Britain was approaching the five million dollar mark and that the organization was "prepared to meet every British request received."

Red Cross efforts to relieve the distress of air raid victims in London and other British cities have more than doubled since the beginning of September, Mr. Davis told the committee. "We already have made arrangements for relief costing about $4,250,000 and daily we are meeting new requests as they are forwarded to us," he said. "We are in constant contact with the British Red Cross and the Women's Voluntary Services, the two officially recognized British agencies for dealing with military and civilian relief, and we are responding to all their requests for aid."

"Thanks to the generosity of the American public which oversubscribed our $20,000,000 war fund appeal and to the action of Congress in making available $50,000,000 for certain categories of European relief," Mr. Davis said, "we are in a position to act promptly and generously on all legitimate requests for relief from the stricken British peoples."

"Since early July the Red Cross had made 102 shipments of relief supplies in British boats and two by clipper plane," Mr. Davis said. "Sixty-six different British steamships have provided free cargo space for the Red Cross relief supplies, and not one of the shipments has been lost at sea or otherwise."

"Shipments of medical supplies, surgical instruments, hospital equipment, ambulances, drugs and surgical dressings have gone to the British Red Cross, while to the Women's Voluntary Services we have furnished food, clothing and food kitcheners."

"Our shipments have contained a million articles of clothing for men, women and children, one-half of which were dresses and underwear, hospital clothing and warm knitted garments made by women volunteers in Red Cross chapters, and the remainder purchased manufactured articles, including besides clothing, such items as slickers, rubbers, wind-breakers and shoes."

"In all, the Red Cross has sent more than 200 different types of relief. No item of relief has been without previous clearance with the British relief agencies as to its need and acceptability. All items of clothing have been new material, manufactured for the purpose, and all medical relief has been of the type familiarly in use in British hospitals."

Saugerties Man Presents Mason With Lodge Jewel

Saugerties, Sept. 23.—Seth Cole of Catskill presented District Deputy Grand Master Edward M. Henderson at a meeting in the Catskill Lodge F. & A. M. in Catskill last Wednesday evening. The district deputy was presented with the apron and Arthur D. Lamb of Finger street, Saugerties, past district deputy grand master, presented Mr. Henderson with the grand lodge jewel. D. D. G. M. Henderson gave an interesting address in response to the presentations. A program of entertainment was presented following the business session and Fred Van Deusen of Kingston was featured. A large number of Saugerties Masons, including Master William C. Cotton, of the Ulster Lodge in this village, attended.

words: "I can see boats, nurse. It won't be long now."

The captain went down with his ship, shouting to the children to "take care of yourselves."

The government said the children, from five to 15 years old, were the first lost in child refugee removals that have taken 3,000 others to safety. Another evacuee ship was reported torpedoed last August, but all 320 children aboard were saved.

Sub Not Identified

The government announcement did not identify the submarine in last Tuesday's war episode. Geoffrey Shakespeare, chairman of the children's overseas reception board, called the tragedy "another example of the barbarous methods associated with Nazi Germany."

The London press laid the blame on the Nazis. Under an editorial heading of "Murder," the Laborite Daily Herald declared "Hitler, himself, directly, fully and personally bears the guilt. Let us write that in our hearts and never forget it."

The Daily Telegraph said "While the world will be shocked by this deed without name, it must also be startled into a clearer, fuller realization what the Nazi code of conduct allows and what domination of the world by Nazi power would mean for extinction not only of human freedom, but of human decency."

Sinking Called 'Criminal'

"The Times called the sinking 'criminal,'" and added "The German way of warfare knows no restraint of conscience."

The government announcement said "tragic circumstances"—the violence of the explosion, the storm, and the cold-defeated careful precautions taken for the children's safety.

The survivors, 13 children, 18 women and 82 men—the latter including members of the crew that had numbered 251—were exhausted and drenched when taken aboard the British warship, but in good spirits by the time they returned to England last Friday.

They told of stark horror, suffering, shock and heroism, especially on the part of the children whose behavior was described as "magnificent."

Chief Escort's Story

Miss E. M. Day, chief escort of the children, told this story: "I went in my cabin when I heard an explosion. I dashed to the children's quarters and found them still asleep. Each child had a lifebelt. An officer shouted to the children to hurry on deck, and we started with the children behaving magnificently."

"We clambered into a lifeboat, but it had shipped much water, and its rudder was gone. 'We saw many other small boats. The children were singing roll out the barrel.' As they came to the part that goes 'we'll have a barrel of fun' the ship sank."

Miss Day told of a night of terror in the darkness after the ship went down of cold and sleet and water "up to our hips" in a lifeboat.

Grey dawn disclosed 12 lifeboats left.

"It was then," she said, "that we could see what had happened. In our boat, there was only one child, two escorts, a stewardess and two sailors left alive."

Another escort told of a 13-year-old girl saying "Don't worry, nurse. The British navy won't let us down."

Boy Helps Mate

Angus MacDonald, carpenter's mate, related that Edward Richardson, 10-year-old Welsh boy, helped him man a lifeboat and comfort the dying.

All but ten of the children were being removed abroad by the government. The ten were being taken to Canada privately by relatives.

Col. James Baldwin-Webb, member of Parliament and general manager of Baldwin's Steel Works at Birmingham, was injured badly by the torpedo blast and went down with the ship after refusing a place in a lifeboat until all women and children were safe. He was going to Canada on a Red Cross mission.

Also aboard the ship were refugees seeking to leave the war after being released from German concentration camps. They included Czechs, Hungarians, Dutch and some Germans. The German Baroness Von Inglesleben, who had been in a German concentration camp many months, died of heart disease after she had been lowered into a lifeboat.

ONE BIG REASON

We're glad to be in the newspaper business...

THERE ARE hundreds of reasons why we are proud to be newspaper men. But of all of them, nothing can match the pride we take in the young men who daily deliver our product to you. Almost unique in this business in that respect. Here created is a job that allows a young school age boy to earn his own way . . . to know early in life the thrill of providing for himself, to a degree, and to actually accomplish something worthwhile with his own brain and energy.

AND NO EASY job is this that these young men of tomorrow tackle. Yet they seem to thrive on it. As a rule, they are the athletes of their schools, the conscientious workers at their studies, the young men who are least delinquent in any phase of their lives. And, as a rule, these boys are the men to whom, in a few years, employers will be turning for workers who do the job and do it well. These boys are proud of their jobs. Some of them will go on in the newspaper business. Others will go into business and finance. Still others will become skilled technicians and laborers. Why are they the cream of the crop? Simply because they have learned early in life, as no other boys can, the important lesson that by serving well they themselves profit well.

Newspaper Boys' Week Honors Tomorrow's Men

The young men who carry your newspaper are going places! The investment they now make in hard work is going to pay them in the future . . . and pay the whole community with upright, loyal citizens.

Bundles for Britain Benefited by Open House at Meadowside

"Meadowside," the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. Wilbern of Saugerties, was opened to the public Saturday for a card party, tea and auction as a benefit of Bundles for Britain, Inc., a Kingston chapter which was opened in August.

The card party was so popular that reservations for tables were closed several days before the affair. Those who had not made their reservations early and were thus unable to play were admitted at a general admission for tea and to see the beautiful home and its famous furnishings, many pieces of which have been brought back by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbern from trips to foreign lands.

During the afternoon 43 tables were in play followed by the auctioning of many beautiful articles, all of which had been donated for the cause by private and antique dealers. The auction took place on the front patio overlooking the Hudson river.

Those who assisted during the afternoon by pouring were Mrs. A. B. Shufeldt, Miss Jeannette Corse, Miss Edna Corse, Mrs. C. Victor Livingston, Mrs. Frank G. Phelps, Mrs. John T. Washburn and Mrs. Myron S. Teller.

Acting as hostesses during the afternoon were Mrs. Kenneth Faxon, Mrs. Kenneth H. Le Fever, Mrs. George Kaufman, Mrs. George S. Robinson, Mrs. Carlton Preston, Mrs. Adelbert H. Chambers and Mrs. E. Clarke Reed.

All proceeds from the affair will be donated to the local chapter to aid in its work of sending medical supplies and knitted clothing to Great Britain.

MANNERS IN BUSINESS, IN POLITICS, AT HOME ARE NOT DIFFERENT KINDS OF MANNERS

Whatever Manners Are Genuinely Ours, Are Always Ours Everywhere

To say that manners in company, in business, in politics or at home are different kinds of manners is nonsense. Whatever manners are genuinely ours, are ours always, everywhere. If they are good, they are good, and if they are bad, they are bad. If they are good sometimes and bad at other times, then they are glued together manners which, like glued together pieces of a broken cup, can't be counted on not to fall apart when you drink out of it.

This mistaken idea of pleasing manners is very much like the mistaken idea of charm as something that can be turned on as one turns an electric switch! True, it may be better to think, "Here comes Mr. Tops. Now I'll smile, and show enthusiasm" than not to notice Mr. Tops at all. But it is doubtful if the smile that enchants or the enthusiasm that carries a point is ever acquired that way! The only smile that Mr. Tops is likely to continue to want to return is one that Mary Merryheart has sent to him without knowing she has done so.

Is an Aunt "Immediate Family"? Dear Mrs. Post: Is an aunt considered immediate family, and if not, may she give her niece a shower party?

Answer: An aunt is not rated immediate family unless she lives under the same roof. In this case, it would be just as unsuitable for this aunt to give the bride-to-be a shower as it would be for her mother to ask people to come and bring presents to her daughter. A shower, remember, is a present-giving party and nothing else. We can all ask, "Will you join me in giving a present to our friend Mary?" but not "to my family."

The Best Things for Last Dear Mrs. Post: When my fiancé meets me somewhere and I happen to be with other people, shouldn't he greet me first and then the others?

Answer: It would depend how people were standing. To shove past others in order to reach you first would be rude to them, and at the same time show you no more devotion than the equally naturally impulse to save the best for last. In short, to get through speaking to the others so as to then give permanent attention to you.

Wedding Presents for a Third Time?

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend is being married for the third time. One previous marriage ended in divorce, another in the death of her husband. Can friends be expected to send wedding presents for the third time?

Answer: Most certainly not. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad, however, to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "Let's Give a Shower." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Beck Will Speak

Cameron Beck, nationally known vocational and industrial consultant, will deliver the keynote address of the 44th annual convention of the New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers, to be held at the Hotel Ten Eyck, Albany, October 7 to 10 inclusive. His talk, "Leadership for Tomorrow," will be given Monday evening at the Congress banquet which will precede the formal opening of the convention.

The dinner is being given in honor of Mrs. William Kietzer, of Portland, Oregon, recently elected president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. At the informal reception following the banquet, other honor guests will join members of the state board on the receiving line.

Speakers during the three-day conference will include men and women well-known in educational fields. The convention theme, "Education for Human Relationships," will be developed through addresses, panel discussions, and symposiums.

Dr. Jay B. Nash, professor of education, New York University, will speak Wednesday evening. His subject is "Those First Ten Years."

Dr. Allen A. Stockdale, lecturer and theologian, is to speak Tuesday evening on "Human Values in Community Living."

Other important speakers will include Howard V. Funk, of Bronxville, National Congress vice president for region No. 1; Dr. Katherine W. Taylor, of the School of Citizenship, Syracuse University; and Dr. Ruth Andrus, chief of the bureau of child development and parent education, New York State Education Department.

More than 800 delegates, representing a state membership of 109,000 in 1,200 parent-teacher units, are expected to attend the convention. The New York State Congress was the first branch of the National Congress, which started in 1897 in Washington, D. C., by a small group of mothers, headed by Mrs. Theodore W. Birney and Mrs. Phoebe Hearst. The organization now has a branch in every state and a membership of two and a quarter millions. Unique because there are no membership restrictions of race, religion, profession, culture or social caste, it continues to have as its chief objective equality of opportunity for every child for education, health, and social-moral development.

Mrs. Carl R. Brister, of Auburn, president of the New York State Congress, will preside at most of the convention sessions.

Mrs. Walter Bell, of Rensselaer, is convention chairman. The program has been arranged under the chairmanship of Mrs. Avery J. Pratt of Buffalo, state first vice president.

A business session of the state executive committee will be held in Albany on October 6. Those who will attend, besides Mrs. Brister and Mrs. Pratt, are: Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, West Hempstead; Mrs. James A. Small, Rochester; Mrs. Patrick H. McKeown, Troy; Mrs. Ralph Terry, Waterville; Mrs. Herbert H. Williams, Johnson City; Mrs. Arthur J. Handley, Poughkeepsie, and Mrs. Lawrence H. Boden, Auburn.

1,456,285 Man Years Of Work Provided

Washington, Sept. 23. (AP)—Congress heard today that the building of naval vessels and aircraft for defense would create 1,456,285 man-years of work during the current fiscal year.

This estimate was submitted by A. F. Hinrichs, acting commissioner of labor statistics, to a house appropriations subcommittee, which released the figures. A man-year is the amount of work an individual can do in one year.

The labor statistics commissioner said his estimates were based on appropriations for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1941, of $1,825,255,000 for aircraft production and $1,010,152,000 for naval vessels.

Bovee Is Drowned At Tucker's Beach

Port Ewen Man Had Been Making Repairs to Boat Saturday Evening

The body of William Bovee, 35, of Port Ewen, was taken from the water of a slip at Tucker's Beach last night, being brought to the surface by Capt. Henry Albright, assisted by John Potter and Henry Schmidt of Port Ewen, who had been grappling for him. The body was found in a few feet of water.

Bovee had been missing since Saturday, having last been seen about 6 o'clock Saturday evening. He had been repairing his motor boat and when last seen was paddling around in the slip. When found it was noticed that his watch had stopped at 6:10 o'clock and it is believed that he fell out of his boat and was drowned at about that time.

Sunday morning the empty boat was found drifting around in the slip, but it was not until later in the day that an alarm was given when Bovee failed to appear and a search was started. Deputy Sheriff Winne and McCullough answered a call to the sheriff's office and were about to join in the search when the body was recovered.

Coroner Jesse McHugh was notified and following an autopsy last night by Drs. Ross and Taylor, gave a verdict of death by accidental drowning.

Bovee, who was a plumber's helper, is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bovee; two sisters, Miss Beatrice Bovee and Mrs. Ethel Bovee; four brothers, Clayton, Kenneth, Percy and Lester Bovee, all of Port Ewen. The body is at the W. N. Conner funeral home, where friends may call at any time and where funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. Relatives and friends are invited to the funeral.

U. S. Gains Eight Million Residents

Increase Is for 10-Year Period, Census Shows; Rate Is 7 Per Cent

Washington, Sept. 23. (AP)—The population of the United States was 131,409,881 on April 1, 1940—a gain of 8,634,835 residents in 10 years—census figures showed today.

The census bureau computed the increase at seven per cent and termed it the smallest of any decade in American history.

On the basis of percentages, Florida gained the fastest—27.9 per cent; South Dakota lost most, 7.5, and the District of Columbia, in which the number of federal employees has doubled in 10 years, exceeded the 48 states with a gain of 36.2 per cent.

In actual numbers, California gained the most, 1,196,437, and Kansas lost the most, 81,862. Census Director William L. Austin said the seven per cent national gain was less than half the ratio in any previous decade and attributed it to a declining birth rate and a virtual stoppage of immigration during the last 10 years.

From 1910 to 1920 the national gain was 14.9 and from 1920 to 1930 it was 16.1 per cent. Austin said the "static" level—or standstill in population—might be reached in 1970 or 1980.

New York, continued to be the most populous state with 13,379,622 residents, and Nevada trailed all with 110,014.

Population shifts may change the distribution of seats in the House of Representatives, but the exact changes cannot be determined until the census figures are verified and Congress has a chance to act.

After some hesitancy at the start, leaders were bid up fractions to more than 2 points. Several preferred issues, traded in 10-share lots, registered wider advances. Quotations were around the best near the final hour.

Activity was the most pronounced in about three weeks, transfers being at the rate of approximately 1,000,000 shares.

The broadening of defense spending, brokers said, tended to offset doubts concerning the course of the war in Europe and a threatening blow-off in the far east. The question of mounting taxes aroused skepticism among some traders, but even this seemed to inspire no great bearishness.

Rail loans led in a generally improved bond list. Securities at London were steady. Commodities were a trifle mixed.

Favored preferred stocks, ahead 1 to 6 points or so, included those of American Locomotive, Pittsburgh Steel, Otis Steel, General Steel Castings, Jones & Laughlin, Certain-teed, American Woolen and U. S. Distributing. Some of these were at new 1940 peaks.

Common shares receiving support were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Dow Chemical, Eastman Kodak, J. C. Penney, American Locomotive, American Telephone, Pullman, Baldwin Locomotive, Great Northern and American Smelting.

Propped in the curb were Aluminum Ltd., N. J. Zinc, American Cyanamid "B," Acme Wire, Iron Firearm Mfg. and Electric Bond & Share.

Bob Bush Stars In Relief Role; Recs Clinch Title

Zadany Features With Two Doubles; Thomas Makes Two Startling Catches in Left Field

The greatest baseball spectacle of the Hudson Valley district was reeled off at Cantine Field in Saugerties Sunday afternoon as Carlisle Husta's Kingston Recreations and the Saugerties A.C. battled over a 14-inning route. Finally Kingston shoved over two markers in the 14th to win 6 to 4.

By coping yesterday's second tussle the Recreations have clinched the disputed series and are therefore declared official champs for this district. But it took a lot of baseball to decide the winner Sunday.

Heroes galore popped out of the second battle yesterday in a game which had the fans cheering from the first frame on. First of all Bob Bush, Kingston's relief flinger, made one of his auspicious appearances and carved himself a spectacular performance. Bob pitched from the sixth inning on and how he did pitch.

Zadany Comes Through
The number two great was George Zadany who had an off day at the start but came back with three hits, the last winning the game in the 14th inning. Of course, in a game such as the one played yesterday, nearly every player was a standout. Another responsible player on Kingston's roster was Bill Thomas who pulled off two spectacular catches in left field.

Charlie Neff and Eddie Wallace started on the pitching mound but at the end of the 14th inning neither flinger was around. Bob Bush came in for the Recs while Joe "Big Train" Brown, the importation from Troy, took over for Saugerties. Both hurried pretty ball in their relief assignments but Bush, having a few good breaks come his way, came through in the clutch in what might be described as his finest performance of the year.

Without a safe hit off Wallace Kingston broke the ice early in the first with a run. An error by Simonites on Thomas' boulder, a walk to Smedes and another miscue by Simonites helped bring in the marker. Then in the second Saugerties bounced back by tying the decision without the aid of any hits. A walk to Desmond, two stolen bases and Van Derzee's error tied the count.

Kingston took a 3 to 1 lead in the fourth on one hit. An error by Simonites on Thomas' boulder, a bunt and another error and Andy Celuch's single pushed in the two markers. Until the fifth Charlie Neff had been rather effective against the Schultzen but here all that stopped.

After Keenan skied to left, Wallace walked. Francoise beat out a scratch hit to third. Simonites, after Benjamin skied to Smedes, slammed a hard single through the box scoring Wallace. Another single by Bing "Towel" Van Etten and an error by Zadany helped score the other two.

Schatzel Is Hit
Meanwhile, Eddie Wallace the No. 1 Saugerties flinger had returned to form and checked Kingston without too much effort. He seemed destined for a win and thereby causing a tie in the series until Kingston came to bat in the ninth. Jack Schatzel opened the session with a single to left and when Desmond fumbled the ball advanced to second. George Zadany, having a pretty bad day until now, lined a sharp double into left scoring Schatzel with the equalizer.

Another single by Celuch failed to give Kingston the edge. Bush hurling magnificently, kept Saugerties quiet in the ninth and then proceeded to keep the whitewash applied until the 14th inning when the Recreations went to town. Finally in the 14th the Hustamen went to town on the round Brown. Smedes opened by reaching first on Van Etten's error. Tiano, in an attempt to bunt safely, forced Smedes. Bill Thomas rammed out his third hit, sending Mac to second. Schatzel bounced out, both runners moving up a peg. Then came the mighty Zadany. He picked out one of Brown's offerings and prodded it into right field for a ringing double scoring both Tiano and Thomas with the important runs. Saugerties put on a mild threat in the last half but Bush, pitching with all his heart, came through again.

Top Gridders Are Preparing to Open College Campaign

U.C.L.A. and Mustangs to Play Friday; Other Ace Schools Will Start on Saturday Afternoon

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—If you haven't felt the tang in the air, seen the leaves turning red, or read the news that summer officially ended last night, take a look at this week's football schedule, and you'll see that autumn actually is here.

There were a good many games over the past week-end, with a dozen or so "major" teams rolling up big scores. But next Friday and Saturday, there are six scheduled contests that are right at the top of the "big game" division, and as many more important sectional and conference clashes.

Friday night's headliner is U.C.L.A. against Southern Methodist at Los Angeles. The Uclans, even without Kenny Washington, figure to be among the Pacific coast leaders, while S.M.U. is touted as about the southwest conference's best.

Saturday's biggest game are intersectional—Boston College-Tulane at New Orleans, Pittsburgh-Ohio State at Columbus, Washington-Minnesota at Minneapolis, Michigan-California at Berkeley and Colorado-Texas at Austin. These will be the first games for each team, except for Boston College, which walloped Centre, 40-0, last Saturday. There's no way of telling what may happen.

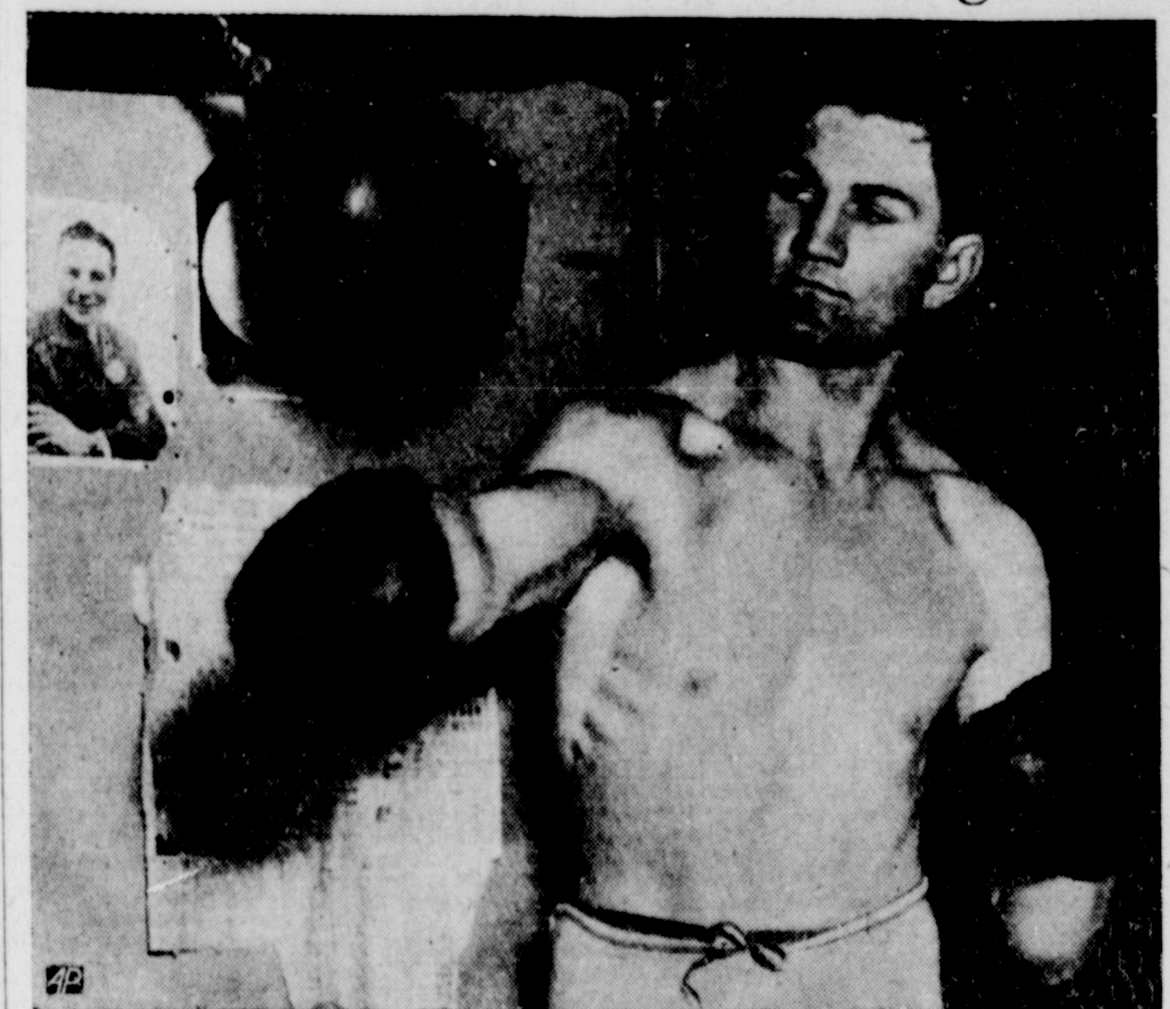

Not far behind in the rankings are Washington State-Southern California, Iowa State-Denver (37-0 against Union U.), and Florida meets Mississippi State. The east can't offer much more than warm-ups unless it's Navy vs. William and Mary, but further west the program includes Purdue-Butler, Missouri-St. Louis, Texas Christian-Centenary, Denver-Jowa State (Friday), Colorado State-Corvallis (Friday), Utah State-Santa Clara and the coast double-header sending Utah Santa Clara and Stanford against Santa Clara.

In the southeastern conference, Louisiana State (39-7 against Louisiana Tech) plays Mississippi (37-0 against Union U.), and Florida meets Mississippi State. The east can't offer much more than warm-ups unless it's Navy vs. William and Mary, but further west the program includes Purdue-Butler, Missouri-St. Louis, Texas Christian-Centenary, Denver-Jowa State (Friday), Colorado State-Corvallis (Friday), Utah State-Santa Clara and the coast double-header sending Utah Santa Clara and Stanford against Santa Clara.

Comiskey, With His New Left, Is All Set For Second Big Test

PAT COMISKEY: 'If He Whips Baer And Continues To Improve—'

By DILLON GRAHAM
Sports Editor, AP Feature Service

Jersey City, N. J.—Most fight managers have to caution their young boxers about wine, women or the horses, but with Bill Daly it's different. His scrapper, Pat Comiskey, is nuts about automobiles, red ones.

As soon as he gets his share of a fight purse, Pat is off for motor row, to stand in front of a sleek, slick model and admire it lovingly.

Daly is going nuts, too, trying to steer a willing Patrick out of the clutches of more than willing car salesmen. Daly agrees with Pat that red roadsters are nice but he figures—Pat to the contrary—that one is enough for a 19-year-old boy not so long out of a $16-a-week job pushing a wheel barrow in an iron foundry.

Comiskey-Baer
Pat, a burly, blond buster out of Paterson, N. J., is going to fight Madcap Maxie Baer in Jersey City September 26. For more than a year now this overgrown kid has been tabbed as the most promising of the younger heavyweights. Everyone, though, agreed he needed much more seasoning before being turned loose against Joe Louis.

Baer will be his first major opponent. If he can win decisively over the big bad Baer, Pat will be ready to take on any of the other better rated heavies with a shot at Louis virtually a cinch for next summer.

Comiskey is the fighter Bill Daly went all the way to Ireland to find. Bill searched County Cork, discarded a fistful of bruisers with glass jaws and disgustingly shipped back to Paterson.

Trainer Johnny Lane listened to Daly's woes and laughed: "Well, if it's an Irish fighter you want, I've got the lad right here in your home town. Kid name of Comiskey."

"What? That's Polish!" snorted Daly.

"Polish, nothing," returned Lane. "He's pure Irish."

And so the partnership was formed, something over two years ago.

Hippo at First
When Daly took him over Comiskey was just a tall, broad-shouldered husky with strong arms. He was about as graceful as an elephant. He knew nothing about boxing, except that no one had been able to stand up under the clouting of his huge right first.

As they say around the gymnasiums, the guy had two left feet. He could trip over either of them with uncanny ease.

Months of gymnasium work taught him something about footwork and how to duck and slide away from punches. Daly brought him along slowly, hand-picking his foes, building up his confidence.

Pat ran up an impressive sounding string of knockouts. Then last winter he had his first big test against Steve Dudas.

Steve had passed his peak—but Steve had fought some top notchers along the way. He knew his way around. His unorthodox movements and crafty maneuvering had the inexperienced Pat in a fog all night. The kid broke his hand thumping Steve's head and lost the decision.

It's an Ill Wind—
Then it was back to dry dock for six months. While his right hand was healing Daly made him concentrate on his left. Up to then the boy had had nothing but a right, a powerful, straight-punching right that bowled over everything it hit. A smart foe, though, knowing the source of Pat's dynamite, could keep clear of that right.

When Pat was revealed again he flashed a left that astonished boxing fans. It was one of the fastest, hardest left jabs in the business. Not only could he stab with that left, he could whip it across for a knockout punch.

He beat Dudas in a return match and a few weeks ago he knocked out Bob Sikes of Arkansas on the Baer-Galento card.

Comiskey is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs around 210 pounds. If he whips Baer and continues to show improvement during the next year he may beat Louis for the championship.

Dodgers Beat Phillies in Two; Fitzsimmons Wins His 16th; Carpenter Cops for Giants

(By The Associated Press)

Like the old-time movie serials that used to end each week just after the heroine had fallen into the crocodile pond, the American League pennant race stops abruptly today—just when it almost had the war news shoved off the front page.

After almost everybody had given up on the Yankees ever being able to make it five pennants in a row, and then had decided the hard-hitting Detroit Tigers were too tough, Cleveland yesterday smashed out a 10-5 win in the third game of their series at Detroit and the Yankees beat Boston, 6-3, to make the race a three-way scramble again. And now, with everybody on edge, they all take the day off!

Resuming play Tuesday, the Tigers have a two-game series with the always troublesome Chicago White Sox, and the Indians meet the Browns in a pair. All of which means the pennant chase probably will not be decided until the three-game series starting Friday between the Tigers and the Indians at Cleveland.

After losing the first two games of the "crocial" series, the Indian victory yesterday—Bobby Feller's 27th of the year—let the pennant picture looking like this:

	W	L	Pct.	GB
Detroit	87	62	.584	...
Cleveland	86	63	.577	1
New York	82	64	.562	3½

Underweight and tired, young Feller wasn't exactly superb yesterday, but he limited the slugging Tigers to eight hits while getting some phenomenal help at the plate in the form of home runs by Roy Weatherly, Ken Keltner, Hal Trosky, Ben Chapman—and Bob Feller.

The Yanks, refusing to admit they're licked, kept within mathematical shouting distance of the leaders by trampling Boston. George Selkirk belted two homers.

Senators Win Two

In the other games, Sid Hudson and Ken Chase turned in two fine pitching performances to hand the Washington Senators a pair of victories over the Athletics, 5-4 and 5-2, and old Ted Lyons pitched the White Sox to a 10-0 victory over the St. Louis Browns. Three of the six hits off Lyons were by Walt Judnick.

In the National League, Turner pitched a two-hitter to the champion Cincinnati Reds, 2-1 victory over the Pirates. The Reds have won this season by one run) in the first game but Johnny Vander Meer's wildness cost them the second game, 8-1. He walked seven batters and hit one before Milt Shoffner came to his rescue.

The Brooklyn Dodgers scored a twin win over the Phillies as Freddie Fitzsimmons won his 16th, 10-2, and Curt Davis captured his eighth, 5-2. Fitz allowed only two hits.

The Boston Bees and the New York Giants split their doubleheader, the Beantowners winning, Carl Hubbell, 4-3, in the first, and Eddie Miller's ninth inning double that scored Chet Ross, but blowing before Bob Carpenter, a Giant rookie from Knoxville, 7-3.

The St. Louis Cards blasted the Chicago Cubs, 8-1 and 2-1, knocking Dizzy Dean dizzy in the first game and getting the best of pitchers' duel in the nightcap between Max Lanier and Larry French. Max Marion's home in the ninth settled the second game.

Much Killing in Europe Is Cold-Blooded Massacre

British Absorption Is Exemplified by Acts of Children Aboard Stricken Ship

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

One of the characteristics of war, as a throwback to savagery, is that international laws and tacit agreements which are adopted in moments of friendly peace often are discarded in the heat of life-and-death struggles.

Warring nations make their own laws to suit the situation at hand. That was done often in the World War, and it has been practiced ever since the present conflict started.

When laws or customs are violated there is no punishment excepting the condemnation of world opinion, or the resort by the injured party to reprisals—the old law of an eye for an eye—which starts an endless chain of death. International laws are not so implemented as to ensure enforcement. Even the League of Nations found itself unable to carry out its edicts.

One of the codes most frequently thrown into the discard is that calculated to protect civilians from direct attack. There are times when human life appears to have no value whatever and is sacrificed merely for the shock it will produce on other civilians in an effort to smash morale.

I suppose that actually death by bombing or as the result of torpedoing is no more painful physically to a civilian than to a fighting man, though the mental stress likely is greater for the non-combatant than for the professional who has been trained to "take it."

Is Mostly Claptrap Also in my more cynical moments it seems to me that talk about "human warfare" is largely claptrap. War is barbaric and inhuman at best; it can't be humanized, though some of its blows may be softened. Just so long as there is armed aggression which must be met by defense in kind, just so long will death take its toll among innocent bystanders—women and children and the aged and infirm.

However, there's much more than accidental killing of civilians going on over in Europe. Some of it is cold blooded and deliberate massacre—a throwback to barbarism and too horrible for words. There's little anybody can do about it now, excepting to apply

Hundreds of London buildings have been wrecked in the Nazi air raids, but there is one air raid shelter that withstood the terrific force of German explosives. Surrounding the apartment buildings plainly show the effects of the bombing. Notice the black cat serenely perched atop the shelter. Picture cabled from London to New York.

the pressure of public condemnation in a big way. Curiously enough, that still does have its effect in circles of savagery.

Sorry, folks, to have been guilty of such an unorthodox introduction to this column, but I've had that piece on my mind for some time and had to speak it.

Strength Continues

The outstanding feature of the week-end fighting would seem to be the continued strength of the British defense and counter-attack. This morning found the Germans intensifying their aerial attack on England in fresh daylight raids but London reported that the first four waves of German bombers had been driven back across the English Channel in disorder.

Meantime the Royal Air Force continued to raid the continent and got as far afield as Berlin. The Nazis didn't report any bombing voices bravely singing that gay song, "Roll Out the Barrel." They were frightened, of course, poor wee folk. They knew death was reaching for them. But they still faced it with song. That sort of courage and determination is going to take an awful lot to beat.

Nash presents for 1941, along with two other series, a new low-priced model seating five adults, 194 inches long and travels from 25 to 30 miles on a gallon of fuel.

In addition to the new Nash Ambassador 600 model the two other models being offered this year by the George J. Schryver Motor Car Company of 73 North Front street, will be the larger Ambassador eights and sixes, both equipped with aerodynamic twin-ignition valve-in-head power plants. Both of the larger models are in the medium price class. Thus for 1941 Nash will offer three series of cars with 15 models.

Speaking of the new Nash Ambassador 600, Mr. Schryver said the car has averaged over 32 miles per gallon of fuel in road tests at average driving speeds. There is a new type steel body of bridge-truss construction and integral chassis frames, all welded into one rigid, twist-proof unit. The bodies are wide with sufficient room for three adults in either front or rear seat. Coil spring suspension on all four wheels, a newly developed six cylinder engine of great economy and a new type two-way ball bearing steering design are features.

This car has been designed for the past three years by Nash and engineers have been working on the model, road testing it and perfecting it during that time.

Prices of the new low-priced Nash have not been announced but it will be set in time for announcement at the New York Automobile Show which opens in October. First models will be on display at the George J. Schryver Motor Company here shortly thereafter.

Models of the Aeropowered Nash Ambassador Sixes and Eights will be on display at the local show rooms late this month.

The "Flying Scot" motor developed as a six-cylinder L-head power plant for the mass-market Nash, develops 75 horsepower. It has downdraft carburetor, pistons are of steel-strut aluminum construction and lubrication of all pistons and cylinders in full pressure, with connecting rods ribbed for greatest efficiency of lubrication. All parts of the motor are balanced by machine.

Sound-proofing is again improved and the famous Nash "weather-eye" air conditioning system will be available even on the low priced car.
